8:00am – 12:00pm

DOC Training Center ~ 442 Golf Course Road ~ Deer Lodge, MT 59722

Course Description: This course is designed to assist individuals to understand and identify differences in the way people learn. This hands-on, interactive, energizing course will guide participants through a self assessment of individual learning characteristics, preferences and needs. Individuals will demonstrate the principles of adult learning in an instructional module, describe their own learning style and that of the other participants, relate learning style characteristics to the experiential learning cycle and use the learning characteristics to identify communication for each learning style. Participants will use practical and useful activities to apply concepts to both their personal and professional lives.

Who Should Attend:

Individuals who want a better understanding of self and others; want to improve communication and listening skills; improve work relationships and create a harmonious environment.

MSP/MCE staff please place training request form in the MSP training mailbox.

DOC Staff must complete a training request form and receive approval from their supervisor (s) prior to attending this course.
